Dear Brothers and Sisters,

As we move into Ordinary Times from now until Advent, we are called to be disciples. In the Gospels, Jesus is calling us to be modern day apostles with the mission of bring about the Good News to all peoples. On Sunday, June 30, Pope Francis greeted the faithful at the Sunday Angelus in St. Peter’s Square. Pope Francis said that being a disciple of the Master means being prompt, decisive, and always on the move. These are the keys to Gospel proclamation. The following was reported by Christopher Wells from the Vatican Media.

In his reflection at the Sunday Angelus, Pope Francis pointed out three figures Christ meets in the Gospel, which “highlight what is required of those who desire to follow Jesus.”

The first figure is generous and promises to follow Jesus wherever He goes. Jesus responds that the Son of Man “has nowhere to rest His head,” but is always on the move. The Church, similarly, is called to always be in motion. “Our mission cannot be static, but is itinerant,” the Pope said. The Church, he explained, is called to go along all the paths of the world in order to arrive “at the human and existential peripheries.”

When another would-be disciple asks permission to bury his father, Jesus replies with the “deliberately provocative” words, “Let the dead bury their dead.” With this reply, the Pope said, Jesus “intends to affirm the primacy of following” the Lord, and of “the proclamation of the Gospel.” This, he said, requires promptness and full availability.

Finally, the Pope takes up Jesus’ response to a third person, who desired to say good-bye to his relatives before following the Lord. Jesus said, “No one who sets a hand to the plough and looks back... is fit for the kingdom of God.” With this answer, the Pope said, “Jesus excludes regrets and looking back, but requires the virtue of decisiveness.”

These three “conditions” of discipleship are not meant to be a series of “noes”. Instead, they are meant to emphasize “the principle objective: becoming a disciple of Christ.” This, the Pope said, is a “free and deliberate choice, made out of love, to reciprocate the inestimable grace of God, and not made as a way to promote oneself.” Jesus, he continued, “wants us to be passionate about Himself, and about the Gospel” – and passionate in a way that results in concrete actions of love toward our most needy brothers and sisters.

Let us take a little time to reflect on what the Holy Father has presented. May this be an invitation as well as a challenge to all of us.

May God bless you with the very best. You are in my daily thoughts and prayers.

Always in the Savior, Fr. Joe

Rest in Peace

Please pray for the happy repose of the soul of those parishioners who have passed away this month.
